

Published on The National Law Review <https://www.natlawreview.com>

Antitrust Issues in Labor & Employment [VIDEO]

Article By:

Benjamin R. Dryden

Our colleagues led a fast-paced webinar about how federal competition laws apply in situations ranging from employee hiring and training to collective bargaining and compensation.

This webinar began with a high-level overview of the antitrust laws generally and then explored specific issues that arise in the labor and employment context. Among other things, this webinar covered:

- The DOJ and FTC's 2016 Antitrust Guidance for Human Resources Professionals;
- How the antitrust laws apply to labor unions;
- Special considerations when hiring an officer or director who works for a competitor;
- Antitrust reporting requirements for highly compensated employees and directors; and
- Making antitrust a part of employee training and compliance policies.

Webinar Recording

© 2024 Foley & Lardner LLP

National Law Review, Volumess VII, Number 328

Source URL: <https://www.natlawreview.com/article/antitrust-issues-labor-employment-video>