Monday, June 22, 2015

Latin America is open for business and the world is taking notice. Foley Partner Jeffery Atkin outlines which countries are actively taking on development projects in Latin America and how the culture is affecting the way those developers work there.

Mr. Atkin’s experience in renewable energy and project finance includes representing developers, investors, lenders and landowners in the construction, development, acquisition and financing of renewable energy generation facilities, including wind, solar, hydro, geothermal and biomass facilities.

© 2018 Foley & Lardner LLP

Source URL: https://www.natlawreview.com/article/open-business-who-s-investing-latin-america-video