Today, after a three-day hearing, the Senate confirmed Neil Gorsuch to the Supreme Court. Gorsuch was approved by a 54 to 45 vote after a rule change that allowed him to be confirmed with a simple majority. To see Jackson Lewis' detailed analysis of Neil Gorsuch, click here. Gorsuch is expected to be sworn in within the next week, potentially as soon as Monday, and will replace the late Justice Antonin Scalia. Senate Judiciary Chairman Chuck Grassley stated of Gorsuch, "This brilliant, honest, humble man is a judge's judge and he will make a superb Justice."
